

Promotion of independent work

Abstract

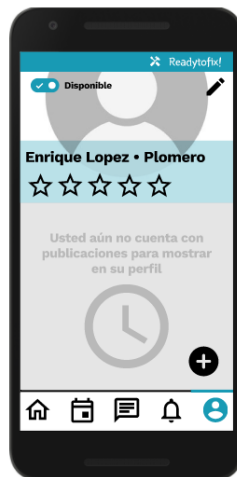

This document describes readytofix!, a system which will help freelancers with home maintenance occupations to publicize their services more. Its approach is that users, both customers and workers, can easily find quality services or job opportunities, customers can check the valuation of workers and workers increase their social circle.

Description

This system provides workers with a space in which they can place evidence of the quality of the service they provide through old jobs, photos of the work carried out and the rating given by the clients who have hired them; all this in order to increase the number of clients they have.

Clients will be given an easy and fast way to find workers who can take care of the problems of the home that the client has, in addition to being able to check if the services offered are to the liking of the person, in the same way they will be allowed communicate with each other to be able to agree with the terms of service.

Interface

Comments of testers

"I saw it well." - Tester 1

"It has what it takes, quite accessible, intuitive, and pretty good." - Tester 2

"Pretty good, pretty understandable." - Tester 3